

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

From: Derek Helling <derekhellingsports@gmail.com>

Date: Wednesday, March 15, 2017 at 10:27 PM

To: "Holmgren, Bryan" <bholmgren@goshockers.com>

Subject: Gregg Marshall Bonus/Incentive

Mr. Holmgren:

I'm a freelance journalist covering the intersections of sport with business, culture, law, media and technology for several web sites, including KCKingdom.com of the FanSided network. It's in that interest I am contacting you tonight.

According to the information that I have been able to find, your employer's head men's basketball coach, Gregg Marshall, received a $54,000 bonus because the Shockers won the Missouri Valley conference tournament. Also according to my source, Mr. Marshall received another $36,000 for his team appearing in the round of 64 in the NCAA tournament. Furthermore, Mr. Marshall is potentially in line for another $36,000 bonus if the Shockers reach the round of 32, another $96,000 for a win in the round of 16, $136,000 for a win in the round of eight, another $36,000 for a win in the round of 4 and $200,000 for winning the national championship.

Can you verify this information for me, and if it is incomplete and/or incorrect, will you please provide me with accurate figures? Thank you for your time and attention to my request.

--

Derek Helling
(319) 601-9462
@dhellingsports